Mayor extols city's redevelopment efforts

by Lisa Parsons

Mayor Jim Dorman addressed the East County Economic Development Council at their semi-annual meeting last Thursday.

Dorman touched on current issues including the trolley, redevelopment of Lemon Grove, Lemon Grove Plaza and plans for Lemon Grove's future.

The trolley has had some positive and negative effects on the city.

"It has adversely impacted traffic congestion affecting our four major arterials--Broadway, Central, San Miguel and Massachusetts," said Dorman. "It has also caused us some parking problems. But," he added, "transportation is a regional problem and from the regional point of view, the trolley has been very successful. People are out of their automobiles. We'll just have to bite the bullet and tolerate inconveniences and interruptions."

The trolley has certainly given the City of Lemon Grove exposure, added Dorman, but preliminary reports indicate that the trolley carries mainly commuters and few people are stopping to visit Lemon Grove.

One of the positive effects of the trolley was that the Lemon Grove lemon was moved and refurbished, he said. "We were also able to plant a small lemon grove near the lemon and landscape along the old rail road tracks."

Dorman commended the Metropolitan Transit Development Board for allowing the city's trolley station on Main Street to be modeled after the old train depot, rather than the standard trolley model.

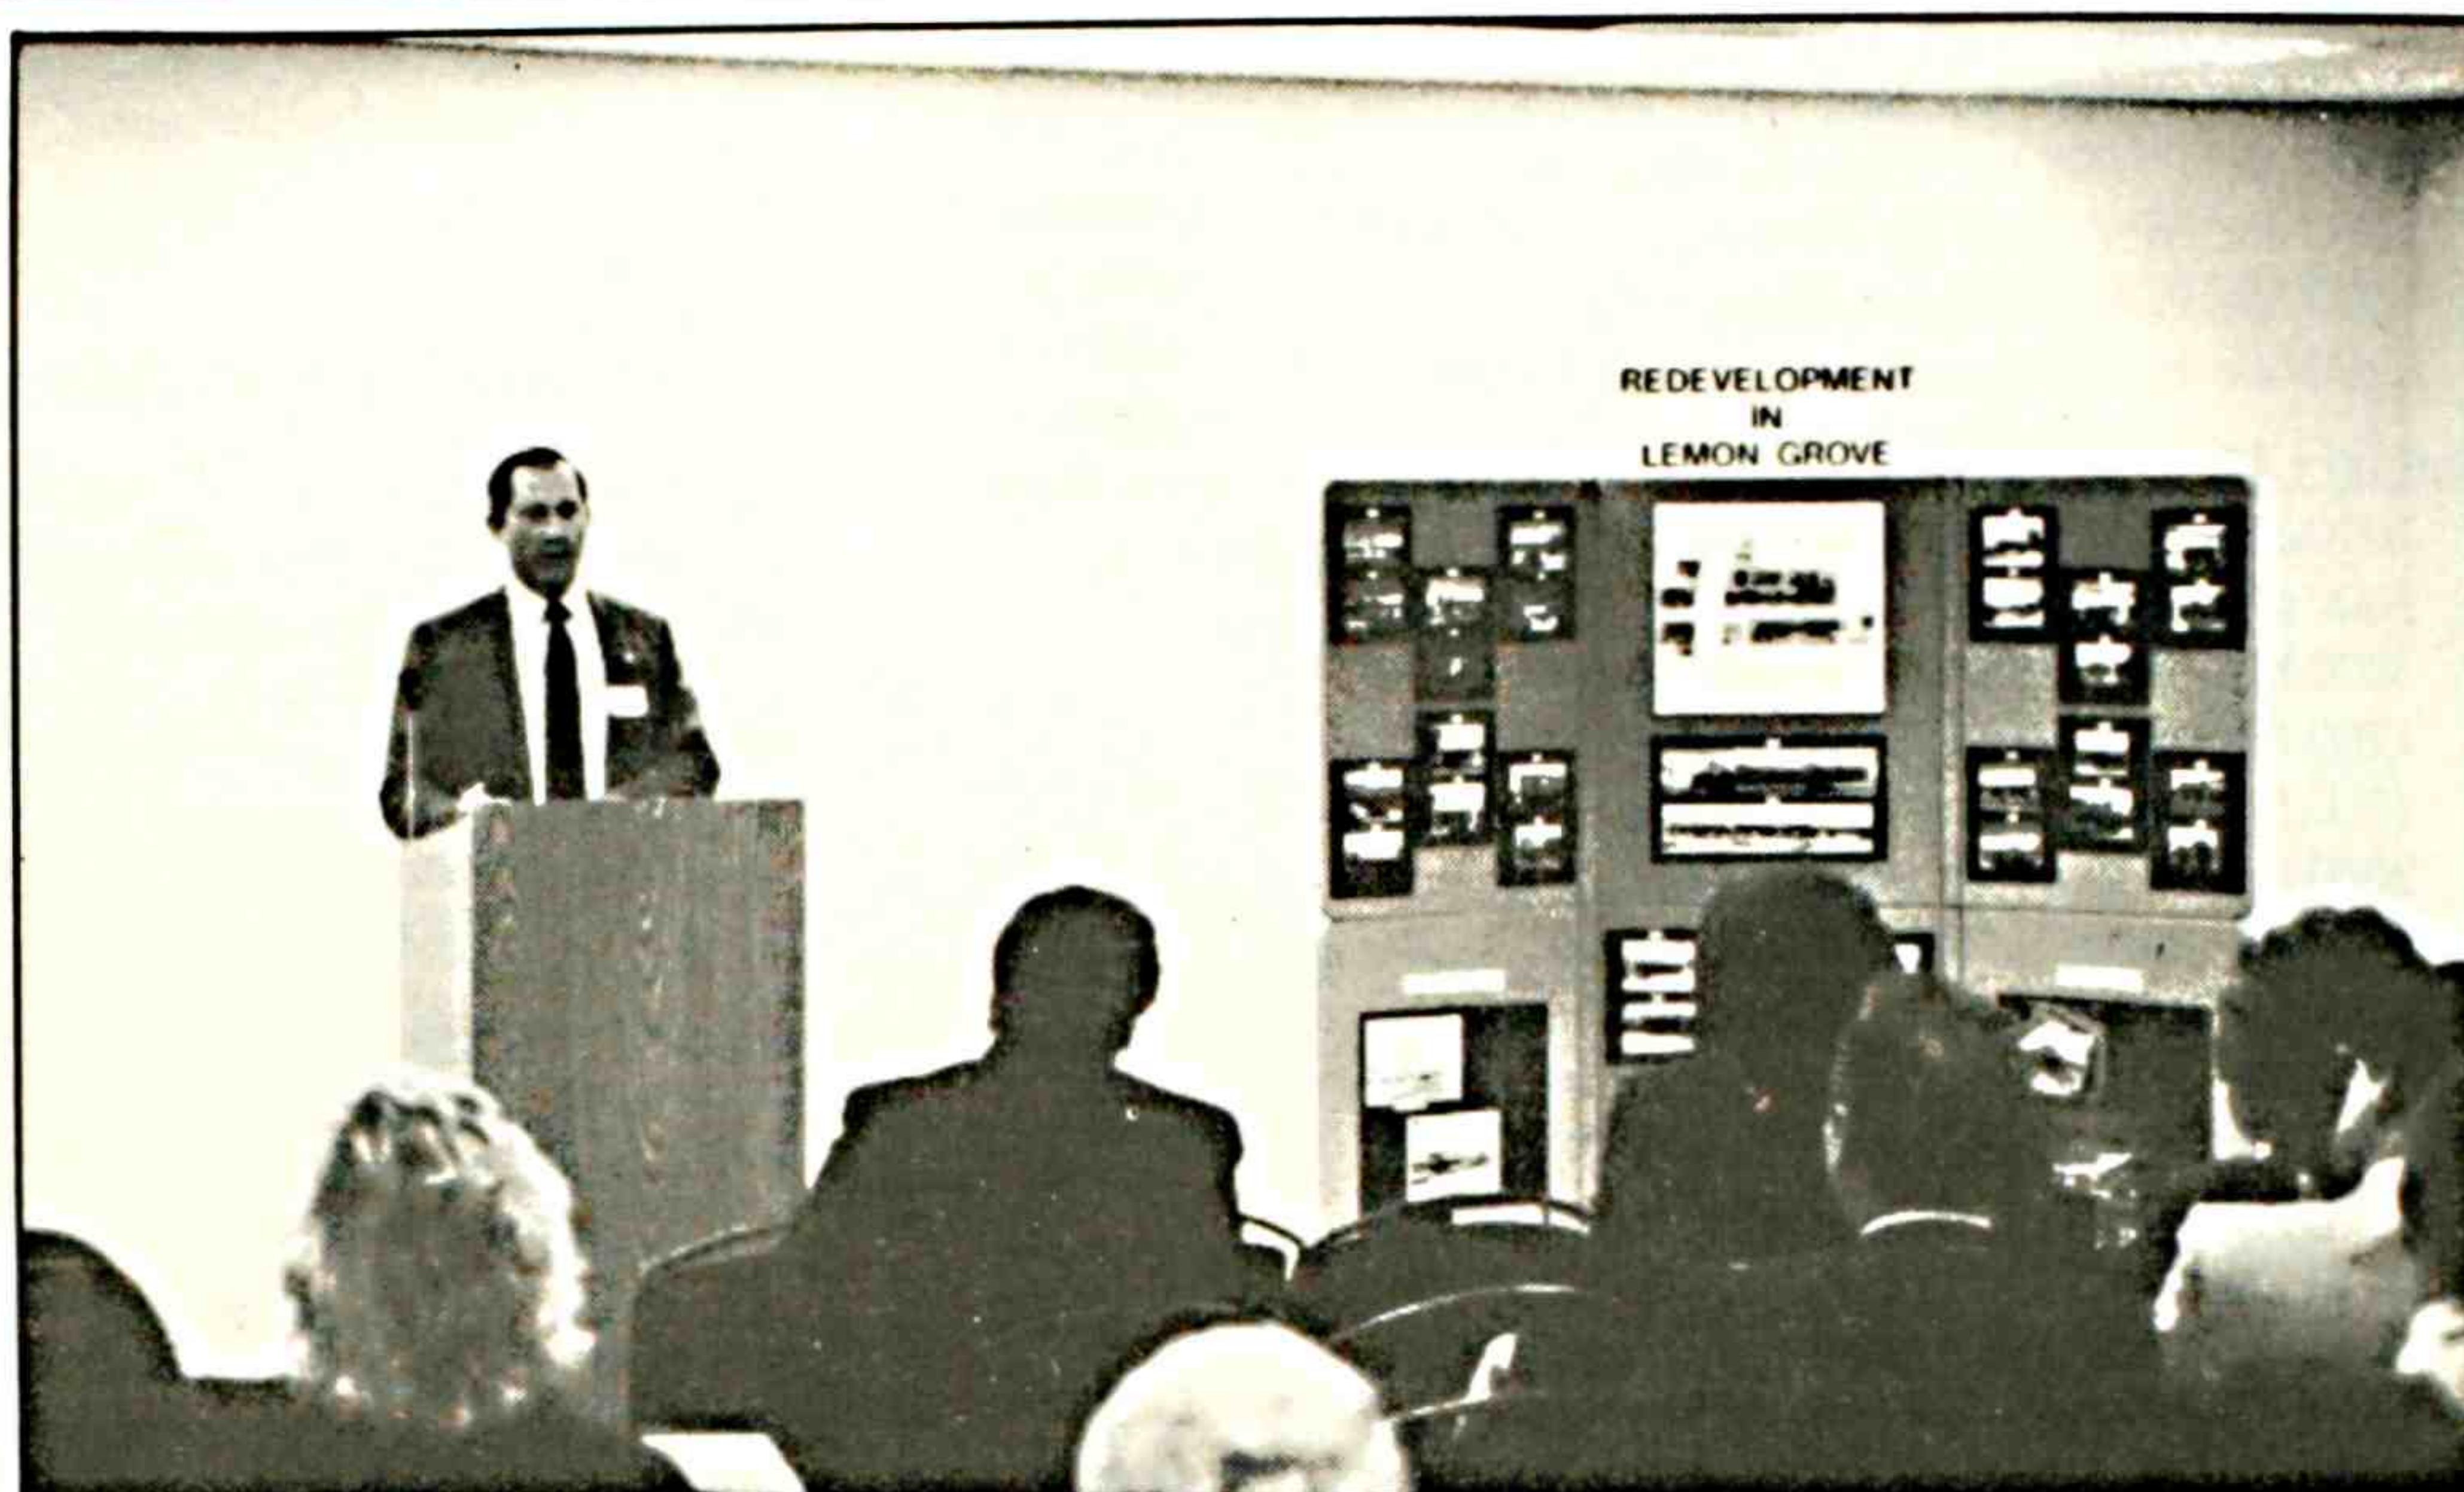

"It's the cornerstone of Lemon Grove's redevelopment," he said.

The city's successful redevelopment and revitalization efforts were highlighted by Dorman, especially the facelift given to the old downtown area (Broadway from Grove to Lemon Grove Avenue). He said if people haven't noticed how Lemon Grove has changed and improved, "then you haven't been in Lemon Grove lately."

The city is also making an effort to address one of downtown's most pressing problems--parking. The city has purchased four lots on Lester Avenue which are slated to become a parking lot and a building at 7874 Broadway (the New Miyako restaurant) to provide access to the new parking area.

Lemon Grove Plaza has done much to change the face of Lemon Grove. The 16-acre, 160,000-square-foot retail-commercial plaza has brought many new visitors to the area, especially since the opening of San

Shuster, Dibb, Higdon and Taub feted at first Honors Banquet hosted by Post 2082

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2082 honored four outstanding citizens at its First Annual Honors Banquet, Saturday, January 27.

Nancy Shuster received a commendation for being the Outstanding Firefighter of the Year. Shuster, the first female firefighter with Lemon Grove, was rated 16th on an application eligibility list of 324 candidates. Through hard work and self-study she has become an outstanding firefighter and a respected member of the Lemon Grove Fire Department. She qualified as a Certified Emergency Medical Technician (De-Phib) and serves in an on-call status for immediate response to emergency medical incidents with the Jamul Volunteer Fire Department. She is a self motivated individual, always giving that little extra effort in all tasks, emergency and non-emergency. Shuster dedicates much of her personal time assisting other candidates in their efforts to become firefighters. Firefighter Shuster's exceptional professional abilities and loyal devotion to duty reflect great credit upon herself and the Lemon Grove Fire Department.

Deputy Sheriff of the Year Randall Dibb was cited for professional achievement and outstanding performance of his duties while serving as a Deputy Sheriff with the San Diego Sheriff's Department. Dibb performed his demanding duties in a meticulous and highly professional manner. He takes great pride in his work and generates perfection in all his accomplishments. Assigned to the Traffic Division, Dibb has completed nearly 500 hours of traffic accident reconstruction training. On his off time he teaches Accident Investigation and Reconstruction at Southwestern College. His commitment and dedication to Lemon Grove keeps him actively involved with various community oriented projects. Deputy Dibb's desire to assist other, willingness to give more than expected and high set of standards, makes him a sterling example of a Deputy Sheriff and sets a goal for others to emulate. Deputy Dibb's exceptional professional abilities and loyal devotion to duty reflect great credit on himself and the Sheriff's Dept.

Thomas Higdon was named Teacher of the year for professional achievement and outstanding performance of his duties while serving as the Music Director with the Lemon Grove School District. Higdon performed his demanding duties in an exemplary and highly professional manner. His superior leadership and educational skills significantly contributed to the overwhelming success of the Lemon Grove Music Program. In charge of the music department of all six elementary schools as well as the Middle School, Higdon has developed an excellent rapport with faculty and students. His professional expertise, coupled with his unique ability to motivate his students, has rewarded Lemon Grove School District with many music awards. Under Higdon's superb direction, the Middle School Marching Band placed first in the National City May Time Band Review. The Middle School Band again placed high during the Grossmont District Music Festival. This repeated accomplishment is a direct result of the untiring effort he dedicates to his profession. Higdon's exceptional professional abilities and loyal devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the Lemon Grove School District.

The final citizen honored was City Hall Employee of the Year Christine Taub for her professional achievement and outstanding performance of her duties while serving as the Accounting Technician with the City of Lemon Grove.

Taub's superior management and leadership skills contributed significantly to the smooth and accurate operation of the City's Accounting Department. Through her dedication, hard work and an incredible amount of overtime, Taub has become the resident expert on the city-wide computer system. As a result of her self-taught expertise she has been able to quickly identify, troubleshoot and correct computer software problems. In addition, she has mastered payroll and accounting procedures and currently performs all of the city's accounting. Her attention to detail, ability to go above and beyond assigned tasks and her willingness to assist other makes her a valuable asset to City Hall.

Taub's exceptional professional abilities and loyal devotion to duty reflect great credit upon herself and the Lemon Grove City Hall.

Mayor James Dorman and retired San Diego Police Chief William Kolender were the keynote speakers at the banquet.

Old Time Days parade and booth applications due soon

Plans for the 27th Annual Lemon Grove Old Time Days are well under way and the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Association is counting on your participation to help make this year another rousing success. The dates for the festivities are Friday, May 11 and Saturday, May 12.

The festivities will take place at the Community Plaza (Fireman's Park, School Lane and areas around the community and Recreation Centers).

Activities will commence again this year at 1 p.m. on Friday with the Old Time Faire in the Fireman's Park area. The evening will feature a Bar-B-Q dinner by the Lemon Grove Firefighters and a street dance for the whole family featuring the Cat-illacs, a rock and roll band playing songs of the 50's and 60's from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The evening will be topped off by fireworks.

Saturday will kickoff with the Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast, followed by the opening again of the larger Old Time Faire, with displays, arts and crafts, food and game booths for the family.

The 27th annual parade will step off at 11 a.m. and all kinds of fun and live entertainment will fill the afternoon. The parade route is changing this year and will march west on Broadway to Lemon Grove Avenue and then turn south on Lemon Grove Avenue, right along the faire area.

The Association needs you to make this year's activities even more fun and enjoyable. It also asks that you please consider how you can get involved this year. Applications must be submitted no later than February 21 to insure a space.

For a parade application contact John Pipes at Weedman's 466-6229

Mayor extols redevelopment efforts

Diego's first In-N-Out Burger.

"Lemon Grove Plaza is an example of private enterprise and the public sector coming together and coming up with a real quality project," Dorman said. "It's improved the appearance of the west end of the commercial sector immensely."

As far as Lemon Grove's hopes and expectations for the future, Dorman said plans are in the works for a motel and restaurant complex with surrounding commercial businesses at Broadway and College.

The city is working to bring more car agencies to Lemon Grove and expand the existing dealerships of Lee White Toyota and Corral Ford, as well.

"One of the goals of the ECEDC was to improve the image of inland East county," Dorman said. "With the revitalization we've done in Lemon Grove, we've done our part."

The ECEDC meets quarterly and is open to the public.

Lemon Grove Woman's Club will hold their February meeting Friday the 9th at the club house, 2798 Olive Street. The call to order will be at 1:30 p.m., by President Dorothy Smith. No program is scheduled. Coffee, tea and cookies will be served after the meeting.

Jessie Ball, past president from 1960 to 1962 and a life long club member, passed away in December. She was ninety-nine years of age and had been an active member in conservation.

Vogue Evening Section of the Lemon Grove Woman's club will meet Monday, February 19, 7:30 p.m. at the club house, 2798 Olive Street. Vogue members will celebrate their 36th anniversary.

A moment of silence in memory of Tina Bentley will be observed. She passed away on January 1, 1990.

Refreshments will be served by hostesses Michele McIntyre and Sally Achord.

The building that used to house Bowlera bowling lanes is undergoing some extensive renovation these days. I understand the 9th District Social Services Department plans occupancy in March. When the work is completed the building will have many features that none of the other offices have.

The Women's Auxiliary of VFW Post 2082 has scheduled a Fashion Show for March 11, 1990. Theme for the show will be "A Spring Fling" and models will be Auxiliary members. Proceeds will be used for the Auxiliary Cancer Fund. Only 100 tickets will be available, but you may be able to get one if you're interested. Call 465-1992 for information.

The following information was taken from an article in the San Diego Union the other day and should be of interest to every credit card holder in the country.

Retail merchants, when offered a personal check by a consumer, frequently ask for two forms of identification, most often a driver's license and a major credit card.

Consumers usually are quick to furnish the two cards, but may be at risk if the merchant copies the credit card numbers onto the check.

According to Dan Marx, program associate for BankCard Holders of America, "Any individual with access to that check would have your name, address, telephone number and credit card number. That leaves the consumer wide-open to credit card fraud."

The non-profit consumer organization, BankCard Holders of America, based in Herndon, VA., is trying to get consumers to refuse to give the information, and also trying to educate them as to the reasons.

They suggest the consumer tell the clerk he or she does not want to give that information; ask to see the manager if you have to; take it as high as it needs to go.

Sounds like good advice to me. Certainly the public at large should not be obligated to give out information, they might not otherwise give out, when writing a personal check for purchases.

Might be a good idea to give extra thought to this next time you get ready to use a credit card for identification.

If you have news items for the Lemon Grove Review, questions or concerns within the community, or need information, call me at 464-4274 between noon and 3 p.m., Tuesday thru Friday.

Aztec athletic fund raiser is unique

One of the most important cogs in a sports franchise is merchandise marketing.

No matter what title it carries, the job is to encourage fans to attend the games.

We've seen professional franchise merchandisers bait fans with such "memorabilia" as beach towels, bags caps, mugs, cushions, among other items. These giveaways come when fan money passing through the gates is less than anticipated.

Now our favorite college has gotten into the act. From the masterful minds of San Diego State University brass has come an innovative idea.

Why not provide a 30-day retreat (spread over a 12 month period) at one of San Diego's most interesting spas, namely Murrieta Hot Springs Resort?

While the offer isn't exactly a freebie, it is nearly so. It offers a $2,400 membership package for $1,000 (with $250 of that going to SDSU's athletic program).

At a press conference last week headed by SDSU's president, Dr. Thomas Day, and his athletic director, Fred Miller, they described the innovative program that should provide much needed funds to the growing athletics budget.

Miller had gotten together with Gary Naiman, owner of the Murrieta Resort and Naiman had agreed to set aside a block of rooms at his resort at a greatly discounted price. The area is designated the "Aztec Murrieta Center" and those who sign up for the membership package will have access to all the amenities the spa has to offer.

These include a magnificent golf course, tennis courts, pools (hot and cool), spa baths and wraps, sea clay treatments, two dining rooms, a bistro and other niceties. It also includes a day care facility for couples with youngsters.

Equally interesting is that members can use the facilities over an entire year for any 30 days they have chosen. These include four Mondays, four Tuesdays, four Wednesdays, four Thursdays, four Fridays, five Saturdays and five Sundays.

Business firms as well as individuals may allot their days to others: employees of firms or relatives friends and neighbors of individuals.

An attractive brochure is also available from the Aztec Athletic Foundation office at SDSU, San Diego CA 92182-0180 or by phone (619) 594-6444.

The Aztec Murrieta phone is 1-800-347-SDSU.

Sports Commentary

by John E Wirges

Tony Gwynn is not by any measure you can dream up, imagine or create, the 7th most valuable player on the Padres squad.

Yet, that is where his salary puts him. He lines up in the Padre pay line behind Jack Clark, Joe Carter, Bruce Hurst, Eric Show, Ed Whitson and Craig Lefferts.

If arbitration gives Benito Santiago what he's asking, Tony will wind up 8th.

The situation is a civil sacrilege. And it's not really the Padres fault. If anything, the Padres are victims, too.

Baseball's pay system has gone off the charts and salaries are out of this world. The inmates are running the asylum.

But Tony down in 7th place? Maybe 8th. It's absolutely absurd. First off, Tony Gwynn is the Padres number one guy in the value parade. His accomplishments fill volumes. He's a 4 time National League batting champion, the last 3 in a row.

Stan Musial was the last National Leaguer to win a triple string of batting titles and that was back in 1950, '51 and '52.

Tony has 3 Gold Glove awards, 4 Silver Bat trophies and has been on 5 All-Star teams in his 7 plus years in the majors.

And all the awards and honors just cover part of Gwynn's value. He's one of the hardest working players in the game. He is an "up" guy, always bringing a positive attitude into the dressing room. He's both coachable and dedicated. He drives himself in a constant search for improvement. Gwynn is an absolute wonder.

And the Padres are not playing cheap with him. Tony will make $1 million this season. He goes up to $2 million in 1991 and the Padres have a $2 million option for 1992. In normal times and in other pursuits that is a tremendous amount of money. But these are not normal times. Owners and players are in a deadly struggle for control of the game.

In negotiation, both sides warn of possible strikes and lock-outs. They rattle sabers and beat war drums. One hopes cooler heads will prevail in their efforts to create a meaningful basic agreement acceptable to both sides.

In the meantime, certain injustices ought to be addressed. The Padres don't like to rewrite contracts. They don't mind extending an existing agreement, however, where certain awards can be added in the interest of sound and equitable business.

There are options aplenty. Try $3 million for 1993 and $4 million for '94. Then add another $1 million as a signing bonus to his current wage for an even $2 million this year. If something like this happens, Gwynn wouldn't be the highest paid player in the league. He wouldn't even be the best paid Padres player. He'd be tied with Clark for that honor.

Tony would very likely be one happy fellow and the Padres would be established in the minds of all in baseball as one place where they take care of their own.

And in this day of ludicrous negotiations and self serving agents - where even a nice young star like Mark Davis can be hoodwinked into walking away from a $12 million offer from a team he loves - that kind of reputation is honestly revered and can be considered a tremendous organizational asset.

From Where I sit

by Frank Andrews

Youth

Youth is such a wonderful period in our lifetime, too bad it has to be wasted on the young. Now-a-days there is so much of that most cherished commodity squandered by our children with a no-future attitude. At my "Senile Senior" age I could sure use some of that wasted time.

Every thing is youth oriented. All clothing ads depict models wearing the latest designer fashions but only in petite sizes. Where are the duds for us older, portly folk? The only thing that I can buy that fits me are sneakers. I pay about $5 per pair but notice the kids wear $50 Reeboks.

Most all entertainment is geared to the young swingers. TV and movies are made with a "Dirty Dancing" flavor to attract a younger audience. What ever happened to Lawrence Welk's style of good clean music?

I recently visited one of our local banking institutions to talk some "Big Business". The head of the loan department looked young enough to still be a freshman in high school. Of course nearly every one looks young to me.

On my last shopping trip for woodworking tools at a large store I was greeted by the head of the department, a young lady that looked like the banker's younger sister. How could I discuss woodworking equipment with this sweet young thing? I wasn't confident with her answers to my many technical questions.

The health care plan that we belong to changes our Primary doctor from time to time. Lately the change of doctors has been too frequent, never enough time to really get acquainted. What would this next one be like? Would he be tall, short, young, or old? When we met I was astonished as to how young he looked with his nurse assistant looking even younger. Am I going to put my many ailments and ultimately my life in those tender young hands?

After just a few visits to my new health caretaker I have become very confident of him and his wee but able assistant. He has done more for my well being in this short time than all the previous "old guys" put together. We have established a kind of doctor-patient love that has 100% customer satisfaction.

I have also learned from my experience with this young doctor that I have been wrong in judging people by their age and not by their experience or knowledge. I guess I just can't remember myself ever being young and starting out.

There is a new show on TV called Doogie Howser, M.D. that illustrates my situation, but of course with some exaggeration. He is a youngster of high school age that has an I.Q. of genius and become a licensed medical doctor. The many patients in the show have the same skepticism as I had about my young doctor.

By visiting some of the local big fast-food stores and being waited on by Senior Citizens, more Senior than myself, I also learned that us "Old Timers" make good employees and can help off-set the balance of this youth oriented society.

Joe Freed on the Movies

This week's movie: Strike It Rich

Whenever a movie like this comes along, I cannot help but wonder... did the producers actually watch their film before they released it? And if so, what made them think the viewing public would be interested in a slow, predictable, boring and altogether uneventful movie starring Miss Goody-two-shoes herself, Molly Ringwald. It's not that "Strike it Rich" is a bad movie it's just that it's also not a good movie. I don't know, maybe the producers wanted to make a neutral movie. Maybe they're from Switzerland... Ringwald is a young American living in England, to be quite honest I don't even remember her character's name--we'll call her "Jane," who falls in love with a middle-aged business man played by Robert Lindsay, known to us with bad memory as "Dick." So

Dick and Jane go skipping off into married life with a smile on their lips and a song in.. well you know the rest, it's all pretty disgusting. Then! Dick gets hooked on gambling! Jane dabbles with a young Frenchman! The film lasts more than 90 minutes! Horrors! But don't worry, in the end all ends up well and the audience's fears are calmed. Actually, my only fear was that "Strike it Rich" might never end, but that was too was resolved with the appearance of the blessed end credits. Surprisingly, Sir John Gielgud made a cameo appearance in the film and he was good. But he could be good even in a kitty litter commercial so that isn't any reason to go and see this movie. Critic's Rating: a very neutral C Coming Soon: Total Recall: Arnold Schwarzenegger stars in a film directed by "Robocop's" Paul Verhoeven about a small town called Venusville. It is the 2075 A.D., and the city is littered with neon signs, porno shops and brothels. Pollution by the mining company has contaminated and made mutants of many of the workers and their families. Average folks walk around with brains growing on the outside, perfectly formed wings, even three breasts. Schwarzenegger is Doug Quaid, who discovers the company's conspiracy to control mining on mars. Tri-Star pictures has pulled out all the stops on the special effects and set design. Watch for a wide release this summer.

Come rain or shine, waterhogs are waterhogs. Their sprinkler systems go on even when it's raining cats and dogs. They don't realize how important it is to use water wisely in the winter.

Don't be a winter waterhog.

Winter rain in San Diego doesn't wash away the fact that saving water is a year-round necessity. That's because local rain water contributes little to our daily supply. It's actually the melted snow that feeds the Colorado River and Northern California rivers that we rely on all year for 90% of our water.

There's no reason to go hog wild in winter.

Fact is, most lawns and shrubs are dormant in winter. So heavy watering, whether it's at homes, parks, schools or businesses, is more of a waste than ever. Water less frequently. Shorten the minutes your automatic sprinklers run. And, please, turn them off if rain is in the forecast.

Conservation. Our way of life.

There's a lot we can do to be water tight. To quench your thirst for more information, just give us a call at (619) 297-3218.

This winter, we're hoping to teach an old hog new tricks.
